PLANS FOR NEW CENTRAL MARKET

WHAT ABOUT THE HOLIDAYS?

Here Are A Few Ideas

It is about this time every year that the more fortunate among the office workers of Hong Kong begin to plan their summer holidays, and it is not uncommon to hear of people talking about trips to Baguio, Java, Shanghai, Japan or some of the Empire.

These summer holidays last from two weeks to a few months, and while a trip to some foreign place is always very beneficial, both as a rest cure and an education, it is surprising that more people do not take advantage of the many holiday spots within Hong Kong and the New Territories.

For the past two or three years, the "Come To Hong Kong" campaign has been pursued by those concerned with the task of putting Hong Kong on the tourist map, and as long as the people of Hong Kong refuse to take advantage of the facilities offered here, it can hardly be expected that people from the neighbouring ports will answer this "Come To Hong Kong" call.

REPULSE BAY

Let us then examine the situation to borrow a somewhat over-used "official" expression. First of all there is the very fine hotel at Repulse Bay where one may spend a week or two amid the most beautiful scenery that may be found in the Far East, or indeed the world for that matter. A week's holiday there can prove to be most enjoyable, especially as the excellent bus service makes a visit to town so convenient when one

WHOLESALE MARKET IN KENNEDY TOWN

Stall Holders To Leave
By August 31

COLONY DANGER REMOVED

HAVING OUTLIVED ITS USEFULNESS TO THE PUBLIC OF HONG KONG, THE CENTRAL MARKET, WHICH TO USE THE WORDS OF SIR ANDREW CALDECOTT, "HAS TOO LONG BEEN BOTH A DANGER AND A DISGRACE," WILL BE DEMOLISHED VERY SHORTLY AND IN ITS PLACE TWO NEW AND UP-TO-DATE MARKETS WILL BE ERECTED.

ONE IS ALREADY IN THE COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION AT THE EXTREME END OF KENNEDY TOWN IN THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF THE CITY. THIS WILL BE OCCUPIED BY THE "LAANS" AS A WHOLESALE FISH MARKET FOR FRESH WATER AND SALT WATER FISH. THE BUILDING IS OF ONE-STOREY AND ITS COMPLETION IS EXPECTED BY THE END OF AUGUST.

It was learned yesterday that all the stall holders in the present Central Market have been given notice to leave not later than August 31.

The letting out of tenders for the demolition of the Central Market depends on the completion of the new Kennedy Town wholesale market.

In his recent speech introducing the Budget for 1937, the Colonial Secretary remarked: "The new Central Market... is necessitated owing to the collapse of part of the old building."

SNITE ODYSSEY CATCHES PUBLIC IMAGINATION

Special Train To Wait At Dock In San Francisco

"The trip has done him good; his appetite is fine and he eats anything I do," said Mr. Snite, father of the "iron lung" patient who arrived in Shanghai after completing a 800-mile train journey from Peking. An army of newspaper men and photographers waited at the North Station for the Snite Odyssey had caught the public imagination.

Elaborate arrangements have been made for the transport of the patient across the Pacific on the President Coolidge, which is bringing two more "iron lungs" to Shanghai. A special train will wait at the dock in San Francisco to convey the patient to Chicago where the foremost authorities on paralytic diseases will study the case. A lady press representative is travelling on the President Coolidge to cover the trip for the Associated Press.

Shanghai, June 4.

Successfully completing the first stage of a 10,000-mile journey unique in the annals of medicine, Mr. Frederick Snite, Jr., arrived in his special train at the North Station at 3:15 a.m. to-day. He was conveyed to the General Hospital by ambulance, escorted by motor-cycle police.

The patient was well and cheerful, having borne the trip well, though he was somewhat excited over the feeling of motion after 14 months' confinement in a hospital bed.

His journey from Peking went without a hitch and his artificial respirator worked perfectly.

During a great part of the 800-mile journey from Peking, the patient slept, but he was awakened when the iron lung was moved from the train into a specially fitted lorry in which he was taken to hospital. The transfer to the lorry occupied two hours.

An army of newspapermen and photographers were present at the station for the Snite Odyssey has caught the public imagination.

With only his head protruding, Snite is encased in a 1,100 pounds steel, glass and iron lung which looks like a small boiler on wheels. The bellows draw in and expel air fifteen times a minute, the normal breathing rate, and thus he lives for his lungs are paralysed.

"The trip has done him good," said Mr. Snite, Jr. "His appetite is fine and he eats anything I do."

Apart from fifty thousand gold dollars which the journey from Peking to Chicago is costing Mr. Snite.

FERRY WHARF COMPLAINTS

Government Action Promised

Regarding certain correspondence received by "The Daily Press" from "Public Safety" dated May 27, 1937, complaining about the latrines of the Yau-mai Ferry Company at their wharf in Hong Kong, investigations were made by a "Daily Press" representative and in an interview with the Chairman of the Urban Council Mr. Todd, we were informed that the Harbour Authorities have promised to take action in the matter.

Inquiries were also made at the Offices of the Yau-mai Ferry Company and the Secretary of the Company stated that the latrines on the ferry boats were mainly

"TIEN HSIA" Publication With Personality

(Review By The Editor)

With each publication of the "Tien Hsia Monthly" another fragrant bloom blossoms in the exclusive realm of elegant periodicals. The current issue worthily maintains that commendably high standard which has been set by previous issues, and, once again, the Book Review section simply scintillates with erudition. The reviewers give guidance, philosophy and sometimes friendship. They can, however, be acridly just as, for instance, is Mr. Chung Tso-yu in his criticism of Sherard's volume in vindication of Oscar Wilde, whilst Mr. Wen Yuan-ning anoints Martin's "The Religion of Wordsworth" with a compound of icing sugar and arsenic. He also, incidentally, makes a valuable contribution to this vexatious subject by his own personal deduction.

WEDDING BELLS

Heywood - Wyatt

A pretty wedding took place at St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, yesterday afternoon, between Miss Valerie Rallion Wyatt, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Wyatt of Lochs Heath, Hampshire, and Mr. Graham S. P. Heywood M.A. B.Sc. (Oxon) of the Royal Observatory, Hong Kong, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Heywood of The Grange, Much Warlock, Salop.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Higgs and the bride was given away by Dr. G. A. C. Herklotz of the Hong Kong University, Mrs. Herklotz being the Matron of Honour.

The bride looked charming in an exquisite gown of ivory lace, made in Victorian style with a full skirt gathered into circles of wing-velvet. Her veil was of transparent tulle with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of cream and palest pink gladioli.

Miss Joan Smith, as bridesmaid, wore a dress of light green georgette and the two little attendants were Joyce Coxall and Galina Smachman who were daintily dressed in organdie over satin of the same green, while all three wore wreaths of pink roses, and carried bouquets of roses to match. Mr. D. Luard (of the Diocesan Boys School) fulfilled the duties of best man.

CHORAL MUSIC

The choral music was sweetly sung by girls of the Diocesan Girls' School with Mr. R. Baldwin at the organ. Boy Scouts of the Diocesan School formed a guard of honour.

After the ceremony a reception was held at No. 2 Observatory Hill (the residence of the bridegroom) after which the happy couple left for the honeymoon which will be spent in Baguio. For her going-away dress the bride wore a charming costume of silk marocain in an artistic shade of blue, with a small brown hat trimmed with flat brown roses, and accessories of the same colour.

New Children's Hospital

This afternoon at 3:30 p.m. the Hon. Dr. A. R. Wellington, C.M.G., Director of Medical Services, will open the new Precious Blood Children's Hospital, Castle Peak Road, and a new page in the local medical history will be turned. Behind the ceremony there lies a story of foresight and enterprise.

The scheme for the new hospital building originated from Mr. Tse Yung Kwong, Chairman of the Hospital Committee.

Prior to this, the Chinese Sisters of the Precious Blood Convent, devoted their services to the care of orphans but at times many of the infants went to the Convent with the thought that the institution could also take in the sick. This the Sisters could not do but as the calls for medical treatment were so frequent the Sisters eventually made up their minds to shoulder heavier responsibilities.

After many months of preparation, a children's hospital and clinic was started. In June, 1931, the Hong Kong Society for the Protection of Children donated $1,000 for initial expenses. The hospital did splendid work and as there was an ever-increasing demand expansion was sought.

Mr. Tse Yung Kwong came to the assistance and donated $5,000 personally and immediately formed

THE BOULDER DAM

Interesting Lecture

From time to time the Institution of Civil Engineers invites prominent engineers from other countries to give special lectures on subjects with which they have been closely connected. While members have not always paid such visitors the compliment of attending in good numbers, on the occasion when Mr. J. L. Savage lectured on the subject of the Boulder Dam, the theatre was crowded. Mr. Savage is Chief Designing Engineer of the Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior, United States, with headquarters at Denver, Colorado, and as such was responsible for all designing work connected with the project, as well as that of many other important works in the United States.

BROAD DETAILS

In his lecture, Mr. Savage confined himself to the broad details of the scheme and organisation involved, dealing with the dam structure, spillways and intake towers. He thus dealt mainly with civil engineering aspects of the work, not touching mechanical and other features.

In a short notice of the lecture, it is not possible to give any adequate summary of so great an engineering undertaking; the quantities alone put the work quite in a class by itself, and need studying carefully to be properly appraised. In addition, the situation presented innumerable problems to which an unillustrated account fails miserably to do justice, while the audience at the Institution had the advantage not only of excellent lantern slides, but of films showing many of the most interesting phases of the work. Some of the pictures were, in fact, most impressive, especially those of the blasting of the canyon sides for the abutments of the arch dam, and the discharge below the power house of water by the outlet works.

BUILDING RESEARCH

A notable feature of the building industry in this country today, regarded in the widest sense as including the selection and treatment of raw materials, the architecture and utilitarian design of buildings, and the technical details of construction, is the range and complexity of the processes involved and of the scientific foundation underlying them, writes a Home correspondent. The full significance of so wide a field of inquiry upon the organisation and conduct of building research can hardly be appreciated better than by those who are engaged in precisely that class of work. On the other hand, the value of industrial research cannot be realised unless the objects of that research as a whole are sympathetically understood by the industry, and unless its results are applied effectively and extensively with the least possible delay.

From these considerations alone the Annual Report of the Building Research Board is an important document at any time. The latest issue is more so than usual, since the usual summary of the progress of the various researches in hand has been supplemented by a general survey of the position of research in relation to the industry. Among the merits of such a review two are especially noteworthy. In the first place it enables the Building Research Board to make close contact with that large body of their clients who are not technical specialists, who have neither the scientific knowledge nor the inclination to make direct use of relatively obscure investigations, but who, none the less, can promote the advance of building science by demanding from their suppliers materials which shall fulfil the functions which the Building Research Station assures them can be achieved.

DIFFICULT TASK

The endeavour to serve the industry as a whole is a more than ordinarily difficult task in building research. If only because the trade lacks experience and centralised organisation for the propagation of knowledge. It is mainly for the same reason, which implies that the builder—as distinct from the manufacturer of one class of building product—is in no way fitted to conduct research for himself, that the Building Research Station owes its existence and derives its value. Hence, in a day when local builders are not

ARMY CYCLIST FIND

"I am very surprised that the military authorities allow you to take a motor cycle on the road without a speedometer," said Mr. E. Himsforth, when convicting J. G. Marr at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning of driving motor cycle No. 241 along Nathan and Laichikok Roads at a dangerous speed on May 17.

Defendant said he had the machine under perfect control and estimated that he could not have been going more than 30 m.p.h. The cycle was an Army machine. Defendant was fined $5.

NO SUFFICIENT PROOF

Blasting stone without having sufficiently strong timber shield to prevent fragments from being projected in such a manner as to be dangerous to the workers formed the subject of the summons served against Cheung Po, a building contractor and his three assistants before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when Mr. O. E. C. Marton appeared for the defence.

Inspector Portallion told the Court he received a report about 7 p.m. on April that a workman had been killed in Jai Incline. When he arrived at the scene he saw the body of a Chinese lying in a latrine, and by his side was a large piece of rock, stained with blood.

Mr. Marton submitted that he had no case to answer as there was no proof to indicate that the unfortunate man was killed by the falling stone.

His Worship agreed with Mr. Marton and the summons was dismissed.

MOTORIST CAUTIONED

A caution was recorded against W. D. O'Grady, residing at No. 1, Armend Buildings, by Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when he appeared on a traffic summons, namely failing to draw into the left side of the road while depositing a passenger on May 15.

Defendant stated that at the time the cinema crowd was coming out and he to have put the car in between the trees would have meant backing into the crowd.

BATHING BEACH THEFT

While Mr. Despalladeres, a musician, was enjoying a swim at Hungshom beach last week, his attention was attracted by a friend crying out "Thief!" They got out of the water and gave chase but the culprit made good his escape. Mr. Despalladeres, however, reported the incident to the Police.

Early on Thursday morning a constable met a man in the street who answered to the description furnished by complainant. He was then detained and questioned and eventually admitted his guilt. The property, to a total value of $14-80, was not recovered.

The man was Leung Kam-fuk, aged 22, unemployed. He pleaded guilty before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday to the charge of larceny. It was revealed that he had two previous convictions of the same nature against him. Sentence of two months' hard labour was imposed.

POLICE REPORTS

While attempting to alight from a tramcar in Hennessy Road on Thursday, Cheung Loi, of Cross Street, suffered concussion and was sent to the Government Civil Hospital. Another man, Lee Sing, was admitted to hospital suffering from shock and abrasions as a result of a fall from a tramcar in Johnston Road.

A Chinese "boy" aged 24, employed by the Hong Kong Hotel and living in Wellington Street, attempted to commit suicide by ingesting himself. He was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital and his condition is serious.

restricted to local materials, traditional methods need to be supplemented by new knowledge. This is what the Director of Building Research has provided in his introductory essay which any builder can read directly with advantage and indirectly with encouragement to study the rest of the Report.

BISHOP HALL'S APPEAL

Bishop Hall said:—

On the front page of the "Times" for May 12, you will find a little poem written by the late Head Master of Eton, entitled "In Shabby Streets."

May I read it to you? "Shildon, Spennymoor, Shiny Row, Fellow, Pity Me, Seldom Seen, What have you got to-day to show?

What have you done for your King and Queen?

The flags are flimsy, the streets are shabby, With mean low houses of cold grey stone.

But which of the guests that throng the Abbey Paid for his flag with a meal forgone?

Paper streamers, and cheapest cotton— Sign enough for the world to know

That you in London are not forgotten In Shildon, Spennymoor, Shiny Row.

Would you choose the Mall with its crowds and gliding

If you were King or if you were Queen

Or a paper flag on a lonely building In Fellow, Pity Me, Seldom Seen?"

I know the shabby streets of Fellow, Pity Me, Seldom Seen. I rejoice that a man who has known the comfort and beauty of Eton and Windsor and has had for years the care of the sons of the most highly privileged families in England, should write on Coronation Day of those who live in Shabby Streets. I rejoice, too, that on such a day the "Times" should print his poem on its centre page and endorse it with a leading article.

To-night I would speak to you of the shabby streets of Hong Kong, and those whose only home is a shelf over a bedspace, or a sheltered corner in a shop doorway, and of the walls who never know where they will next sleep or eat— twelve of whom have now found a happy resting place as Boarders in the Hong Kong Boys' Clubs.

GOVERNOR'S INTEREST

His Excellency the Acting Governor has shown his interest and concern for what we are doing by promising to attend a Gala Performance at the King's Theatre to-morrow at 9.30 p.m. His action has made it easy for me to speak to-night. "Follow my leader" is a game the greatest duffer of us all can play. Play follow my leader then to-morrow night and beset the Box Office at the King's Theatre where, for a small extra charge, you will see the first night of a musical picture and also hear and see the Seaforth Highlanders Band.

EXTRADITION CASE

The case in which Chui Chi Kong is alleged to have embezzled 4,164.93, guilders and H.K. $3,290.82 from the Wing Fat Company, Hong Kong, was continued before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon. Mr. F. G. Nigel, for the defence, stated that he was willing to continue with the case on four counts which were (1) Ng Chui Tek Company, (2) Kwong Sang Leung Company, (3) Tiffin Company, (4) Heun Yee Feng Company.

The money, supposed to have been embezzled from these firms, amounted to 500, guilders, but if the prosecution wished to prove the case for the full amount he would have to have the other documents, still in the Siamese language, translated. He also stated that the fugitive was entitled to know exactly what charges were preferred against him.

Mr. E. H. Williams then asked His Worship to remand the case till Monday for him to answer the case of the defending counsel. Mr. Williams' request was granted and the case will be continued on May 7 at 2.30 p.m.

A PERSISTENT OFFENDER

A life banished, Chan Lap-shing, aged 40, who had four previous convictions on charges of returning to the Colony, was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour yesterday by Mr. Himsforth when he was charged with the fifth offence. Chan was arrested at Pei Ho Street on Tuesday by the Police. Acting on information received

RELIGION: PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL

XVI: Congregationalism

(BY SCRUTATOR)

The spirit of Methodism always being greater than its organization, many of the congregations founded by Wesley and Whitefield drifted into Congregationalism and so leavened the latter with a new spirit and enabled it once more to place its emphasis more properly as it had been in the beginning, on the spiritual rather than upon the practical aspect of its witness.

The old doctrines of election and predestination, while still common theological coin, came to be preached less and less, and the doctrine of free salvation for all through the blood of Christ took its place in the pulpits of Congregationalists. This new emphasis attracted many who only incidentally became Congregationalists because they were attracted by the democratic methods of congregational church government. Nevertheless the revival gave its witness new life and enabled it to inspire several wonderful achievements, chief of which was the founding of the Sunday School by Robert Raikes and of the London Missionary Society.

The latter Society had as its object, "not to send Presbyterianism, Independency, Episcopacy, or any other form of Church government and order, . . . but the glorious Gospel of the Blessed God to the heathen."

Responsibility for this Society did a very great deal to unite Congregational Churches and between 1780 and 1810 many Associations of Churches sprang up. Mutual exchange of views and the contrasting of different spheres of work among ministers at these Associations gave rise to a new and deep interest in the social lives of the people. There was much sympathy among them with Chartism and other purely political movements, and they initiated the rise of the new radical temper which was to accomplish so much for the future of the nation. One of the chief features of modern English life which was developed by the Congregationalists was that education should be unsectarian and should be provided by the State.

CATHOLIC NEWS AND NOTES

The Feast Of The Sacred Heart

The Feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus which was celebrated throughout the Catholic Church yesterday is one that non-Catholics have sometimes found it difficult to understand. There is not much difficulty, however, in explaining it to those who are familiar with the English language, for the use of the heart as the symbol of love pervades the language, while the ideal of manliness associated with Bunyan's "Great-heart" gives added nobility to the symbol in the English mind. The purpose of directing attention, to the Heart of Christ, is to help people to realise the love for the human race which was the motive of the Incarnation and the self-sacrificing love which characterized Christ's life on earth. Though the celebration of the feast is comparatively recent, the aspect of the Incarnation which it emphasises has been treated by Christian writers since the very earliest times. This is the last of the series of important feasts connected with the Life and Person of Christ that follow on the Easter season.

"FATHER BROWN"

Some newspaper readers in England were mystified last month when a paragraph announcing that the Rev. John O'Connor, parish priest of St. Cuthbert's in Bradford, was made a Monsignor was headed "Father Brown Honoured." Fr. O'Connor, or Mgr. O'Connor as he must now be called, is one of the best known priests in Yorkshire, but he is known much more widely as the original of G.K. Chesterton's "Father Brown" stories. Many who read of the wisdom and incredulity of the unusual priest-detective wondered if he was modelled on any real person, but the author admitted that he was a very real person indeed, an Irish priest who had built two churches in Yorkshire, and many years later when G.K. Chesterton became a member of the Catholic Church it was Fr. O'Connor, the original "Fr. Brown," who was one of Chesterton's closest friends, has earned a reputation of his own as a literary man, and has published books both in prose and verse. He performed remarkably well the difficult feat of translating Claudel's "Satin Slipper."

THE CONTEMPLATIVE LIFE.

The sympathetic interest which has been aroused by the opening of the new Carmelite Convent at Stanley has been quite remarkable. Many have visited the convent and made minute inquiries about the lives of the Sisters. To most it was a revelation of something of which they had hardly suspected the existence in our day, and all have the greatest respect for those who have devoted themselves to the life of contemplation in this convent. The contemplative life is a thoroughly logical development of the Christian ideal. Those who believe it a Christian duty to know and love God must realise that prayer and contemplation are sufficient in themselves as a noble occupation of men's faculties, and one that must encourage the promotion of a very high standard of virtue. In addition to this, all who admit the value of prayer will recognise that the lives of those who devote

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST.

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow, June 6 will be: "God the only Cause and Creator." The Golden Text will be: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." (Genesis 1:1).

Among others the following citations from the Bible will be read: "And they came unto him, bringing one sick of the palsy, which was borne of four. And when they could not come nigh unto him for the press, they uncovered the roof where he was: and when they had broken it up, they let down the bed wherein the sick of the palsy lay. When Jesus saw their faith, he said unto the sick of the palsy, Son, thy sins be forgiven thee. But there were certain of the scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts, Why doth this man thus speak blasphemies? Who can forgive sins but God only? And immediately when Jesus perceived in his spirit that they so reasoned within themselves, he said unto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts? Whether is it easier to say to the sick of the palsy, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and take up thy bed, and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (he saith to the sick of the palsy), I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house. And immediately he arose, took up his bed, and went forth before them all: insomuch that they were all amazed and glorified God, saying, We never saw it on this fashion." (Mark 2: 3-12).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Disease is not intelligence to dispute the empire of Mind or to dethrone Mind and take the Government into its own hands. If disease can attack and control the body without the consent of mortals, 'an can do the same, for both are errors, announced as partners in the beginning. The Christian Scientist finds only effects, where the ordinary physician looks for causes. There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause. Sin, sickness, disease, and death belong not to the Science of being. Spirit blesses man, but man cannot 'tell whence it cometh.' By it the sick are healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinning are reformed. These are the effects of one universal God, the indivisible good dwelling in eternal Science." (Pages 378, 379 and 78).

BRITISH LEGION

The King's Interest
And Sympathy

Delegates from nearly 900 branches of the British Legion were present at Queen's Hall, London, recently, at the opening of the annual conference, under the chairmanship of Major F. W.
Fetherston-Godley.

Major-General Sir, Frederick Maurice said that an address had been sent to the King. In this the British Legion recalled with pride the King's service in the Royal Navy during the Great War, and the fact that he was with the Grand Fleet under the command of the Legion's late President and Vice-President, Admiral of the Fleet
Earl Jellicoe, during the greatest naval battle of the War.

In his reply, the King thanked the members of the British Legion for their loyal message. "The Queen and I look forward," the message continued, "to seeing many of them at the Review and on other occasions during the summer. To anyone of my generation, the care of the ex-Servicemen must always be a deep concern, and they may rest assured of my unfailing interest and sympathy in all that affects their welfare."

In his presidential address Sir Frederick Maurice said that the work that the British Legion had been doing during the past year had been one of the most effective means of improving international relations. It was the duty of the Legion to take a watchful view of its responsibility to the country.

LAMBERT BROS.
AUCTIONEERS.HOMAGE TO NELSON"He Was Like
Our Togo"

Among the crowds who thronged
London's West End recently was a party of Japanese naval men who had come to pay homage to Nelson. The party consisted of 100 officers and men of the Japanese battle cruiser Ashigara.

In groups of 20 they moved slowly round the column while members of the Japanese colony in London explained, the scenes depicted on the panels at the base.
"We all know your Nelson" one of them said. "He is like our Togo."

Before the party left, and while the others were signing autographs, the officer commanding the party walked to the front of the column, doffed his cap, stood silent for a minute, and then bowed almost to the ground.

CAREERS FOR YOUNG
SOLDIERS

One of the most serious problems in the country to-day was that of recruiting. Efforts had been made to make the Army more attractive, but he was doubtful whether the young soldier of to-day really wanted the mollycoddling he had been promised. What he really wanted was a career. He wanted to know when he enlisted that he was not only going to have work for seven years but for the rest of his life.

He suggested that the influence and the experience of the Legion should be employed so that the Government, local authorities, and public utility services would be compelled to take a definite proportion of men on their discharge from H.M. Forces. If that policy were adopted, the problem of careers for young soldiers would be solved, and recruiting would be more successful.

The conference should be careful to eschew anything that savoured of party politics, and to put service first.

The Chairman said that nothing mattered in our foreign policy except the attempts to keep the peace. There was a great value in the Legion's missions to other foreign countries, and during these visits he had found that what the ordinary individual everywhere wanted was to live his life in decency and peace. The most amazing thing he had ever seen was the capability of the British ex-Servicemen to make friends wherever he went. By such efforts to improve the relations between foreign ex-servicemen, the Legion was doing as much for the country to-day as its members did during the War year.

Sonja Henie, possessor of a "roomful" of trophies and medals for figure-skating and holder of World's and Olympic championships, whose first screen success, the Twentieth Century-Fox spectacular musical hit, "One In A Million" showing at the Oriental Theatre to-morrow, Monday and Tuesday, learned to dance before she could skate.

Having already astounded first the sport world and then a much wider public with her exhibitions of unbelievable grace and rhythm on skates, Sonja leads a breath-taking ice ballet in "One In A Million," which features a tremendous dancing chorus on skates.

ON THE AVENUE

Swinging merrily along to the tune of the best songs ever written by the greatest writer of songs in the world, "On The Avenue" opening at the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres to-day, represents Irving Berlin at his melodious best, in a musical that is full of pep and lifting good spirits.

With Dick Powell and Madeleine Carroll making a new and romantic twosome of musical comedy, the lively Twentieth Century-Fox musical represents a real-life romance of New York, in a show that's as big as the town, Alice Faye, The Ritz Brothers and George Barbier add both melody and mirth to the production.

SINNER TAKE ALL

A capacity audience at the Majestic Theatre yesterday expressed enthusiastic approval of the picture, "Sinner Take All," a new and thrilling mystery story from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

With Bruce Cabot, Margaret Lindsay and Joseph Calleia in the leading roles, the story is a dramatic account of murder and mystery in Manhattan. The supporting cast includes Stanley Ridges, Vivienne Osborne, Theodore von Eltz, George Zucco, Raymond Hatton, George Lynn, Edward Pawley, Louis Natheaux, and Robert Emmet O'Connor.

PENNIES FROM HEAVEN

Columbia's picturization of "Pennies from Heaven" is one of the finest musical comedies the screen has ever presented. Headed by Bing Crosby and Madge Evans in the leading roles this melody-laden drama of youthful romance commences its inaugural screening at the King's Theatre to-morrow.

Bing Crosby

THE THEATRE ENIGMA

An astounding thing about Coronation week happenings was that the London theatres turned money away, despite the pomp and pageantry out of doors, the good weather, and the bus strike. Even on rainy Coronation night the theatres did well. Even theatre managers admit that they were agreeably surprised, for the Jubilee celebrations almost emptied the theatres, though they were, then expecting full houses. After the Jubilee slump managers apologized for the box-office figures by suggesting that no play could compete with the show outside.

Coronation week had provided a finer street show, jammed even greater crowds into the West End. Transport has been crippled, yet every manager tells one that they did good business.

One seeks in vain to explain this discrepancy of effect between one week of festival and another. The candid manager regards explanation as hopeless. The other kind forgets his apology for Jubilee absences, waves the bus strike away by stating that his patrons can afford taxis, and remarks that any way an earthquake would not keep playgoers away from entertainment so excellent as his. The incalculable element in theatrical business could not be better illustrated.

As to the music-halls, the Palladium reports good first houses, but with audiences so tired that they sat still instead of visiting the bars. Second houses, which finish half an hour later than the theatres, were below normal. The explanation may be that music-hall audiences cannot pay for taxis home. A doubting variety official hinted that perhaps the theatres were exaggerating their good fortune.

DODSWORTH

Samuel Goldwyn's most ambitious production, the screen version of Sinclair Lewis' "Dodsworth," which thrilled millions as a best selling novel, and a smash stage hit, is to-day at the King's Theatre.

Walter Huston repeats the title role he created and played for more than two years on the stage. Ruth Chatterton appears opposite him, while Paul Lukas, Mary Astor, and David Niven are also prominently featured.

Moderator And The Coronation

"High Seriousness" Of The Service

Impressions of the Coronation, which he attended as Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, were given by the Right Rev. Professor Daniel Lamont, D.D., in an address during a service in celebration of the Coronation in St. Giles' Cathedral, Edinburgh. The Very Rev. Dr. Charles L. Warr conducted the service.

Touching on the "august pageantry" in Westminster Abbey, the Moderator said he had two dominant impressions. One was that magnificent as it was, it was not obstructive. It was only the background, and was felt by all to be so. The other impression was the "high seriousness" which prevailed throughout the Abbey.

Paul Lukas in "Dodsworth"

SONGS OF OLD CHINA

Mr. Arthur Waley, already celebrated as the translator of Chinese poetry, drama and of "The Tale of Genji," has completed a volume of translations, of 305 Chinese songs dating from 800 to 600 B.C. The songs have not appeared in English since the middle of the last century, when many of them, dealing with "courtship" and "marriage," were interpreted allegorically. Mr. Waley, with nearly a century of increasing knowledge of Chinese between him and his predecessors, makes a new direct approach to what his publishers describe as "the finest collection of traditional songs which antiquity has left us." The book will come from Allen and Unwin in the first week of July.

With God and with their subjects, and the people stood to the covenant.

"We rejoice," the Moderator added, "in the knowledge that the inviolable ties of Empire, and especially the common devotion of all to the priceless interests of freedom and liberty, are stronger than they have ever been, so that the British Commonwealth stands in the world to-day like a rock amid the storm. The character of this Monarchy is now the strongest single safeguard of the unity of the Empire."

CHINA AND THE WEST

Dr. Kung On The Influence Of Christianity

The United Committee for Christian Universities of China entertained Dr. H. H. Kung, vice-president of the Executive Yuan and Minister of Finance in China, at luncheon at the Florence Restaurant, Rupert Street, W., recently. Dr. Kung was the Chinese Envoy Extraordinary to the Coronation. The Rev. C. E. Wilson, secretary of the Baptist Missionary Society, presided.

The Chairman, in welcoming Dr. Kung and other Chinese guests, said that they were all friends and well-wishers of China. One of the most remarkable features of modern China was that the graduates of the Christian colleges were coming to positions of influence in the State and in all the learned professions. In the last dozen years the number of enrolled students in the colleges had increased from 2,000 to over 7,000.

and there were 800 graduates going out of these institutions every year to take up careers. We had much to learn from China; General Chiang Kai-shek and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek had by their personal characters and their generosity towards their enemies set a lofty example to Christians of the whole world.

Dr. Kung said that the Chinese people believed in religious freedom, and it was now a part of their Constitution. China was at present going through a process of regeneration and emphasized the spiritual or social side as against the material. They believed that China had something in the way of culture to offer to the West, and it was his hope that the Christian and other institutions in China would serve to bring the culture and civilization of China to the West, so that international co-operation might be promoted and the cause of world brotherhood be attained.

Other speakers were the Rev. T. Cocker Brown, chairman of the Committee, and the Rev. William Eaton, secretary of the "International Missionary Council." Among those present were the Chinese Ambassador and Mme. Quo, Sir Alfred Lewis, Sir John Pratt, Sir Frederick Whyte, and Lady Cecil.

OBSERVATION OF SPANISH COASTS

Proposal For Scheme To Be Resumed

London, June 3. In a statement at Commons question time, Lord Cranborne, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, declared that in the present difficult situation it has been the object of His Majesty's Government to prevent by all means in their power a breakdown of the policy of non-intervention in the Spanish struggle, and to avert the very grave situation which would arise if such a breakdown resulted in the renewed influx of foreigners into Spain for the purpose of taking part in the struggle.

His Majesty's Government, therefore, considered that the essential aim should be that full international co-operation in the work of the Non-Intervention Committee and the scheme of naval observation of the Spanish coasts should be restored with the least possible delay.

ADEQUATE GUARANTEE

With this aim in view, His Majesty's Government had communicated last night, to the Governments concerned, proposals which it was hoped might provide an adequate guarantee against the recurrence of incidents such as those which brought about the existing situation.

He added, "It is our hope that the proposals in question will enable the policy of non-intervention to be fully resumed by all the governments concerned. His Majesty's Government attaches more importance to such a development since they are anxious to make progress as fast as possible with the question of withdrawal of foreign combatants in Spain. They regard this matter as urgent and hope that in the atmosphere of renewed international collaboration, it may be possible to continue to work for an agreement on this subject."

FOUR POWERS TO CONFER

Berlin, June 3. It is officially confirmed that discussions will be held between Berlin, London, Paris and Rome with the object of reaching a common understanding on the question of effective guarantees for the safety of vessels participating in the International Control Scheme in Spanish waters.

It is understood Germany is willing again to co-operate in the naval control and deliberations of the Non-Intervention Committee if such guarantees are forthcoming.

SETTLEMENT HOPES

London, June 3. It is expected in well-informed circles that the settlement of the Iviza incident will be reached in a fortnight. It is hoped that Germany and Italy will return to the fold and resume patrol duty in Spanish waters as soon as the four powers concerned have resolved to take joint action in face of a recurrence of this kind.

BRITISH SCHEME

Paris, June 3. It is stated here that the British scheme for reorganising the Non-Intervention control does actually contain a proposal for a general naval co-operation. It is stated that details of this co-operation have already been discussed.

ILLNESS OF SIR ROBERT BORDON

Concern Expressed By The Premier

London, June 3. The principal delegates to the Imperial Conference held a further meeting in the Cabinet Room at No. 10, Downing Street to-day.

SPANISH SITUATION

Mr. Eden gave an account of the Spanish situation and went on to deal with the various points which were raised during earlier discussions on foreign policy. After some interchange of views the meeting adjourned until to-morrow morning.

GENERAL MOLA DEAD

Victim Of Plane Crash

Salamanca, June 3. General Emilio Mola is dead. According to an announcement made to-day, the General met his death whilst making a reconnoitring flight over the Biscaya front. Thick fog prevailed along the route and the plane crashed to earth. General Mola, his A.D.C. and two members of his General Staff were killed outright and both pilots later succumbed to their injuries.

Don Emilio Mola Vidal was born in 1881 in a village at the foot of the Pyrenees, and was of Basque stock. His youthful ambitions lay in the direction of art and it is said of him that he desired to become a second Cervantes.

However, he followed his father's wishes and entered the military college at Pamplona and was later given command in one of the regular Guard Regiments. He rose rapidly, and in the days of the Monarchy was known to have republican leanings.

In January 1931 he was made General Superintendent of the entire Spanish Police Force. It is generally admitted that the comparative orderliness of the 1931 Revolution was due to his steadiness and firm way in which he controlled the forces that threatened to disrupt the country.

The breach that had occurred between General Mola and the Government began to widen as the Government began to drift towards the extreme left. The Government gave him a post in Morocco, but he was recalled when the more moderate trend gained supremacy.

He was arrested in Madrid on July 6, 1936 on suspicion of having prepared a revolt against the extremist left Government formed in Hume, but was released.

Shortly after this General Franco took up the fight against the Popular Front Government and General Mola immediately offered his services. Since then he was in command of the Nationalist Northern army. It was his army that occupied Irun and San Sebastian, and are at present engaged in blasting their way to Bilbao.

WIDESPREAD MOURNING

Salamanca:—Flags are flying at half mast throughout the territory controlled by General Franco, to whom the death of General Mola, commander-in-chief of the Northern Nationalist forces, came as a heavy blow.

AMNESTY BILL IN BELGIUM

Unrest Not Allayed

Brussels, June 3. The passing of the amnesty bill has not succeeded in bringing about the expected appeasement in Belgian domestic affairs, judging from the tone of comments in some leading Brussels papers.

The bill which grants amnesty to all those condemned for treason after the war for activities during the German occupation was passed by 95 to 75 votes, but van Zeeland was compelled to introduce an amendment refusing to restore to persons upon whom death sentence had been passed, the right to be elected to public bodies. This amendment was bitterly opposed by the Flemish Nationalists. The amendment was made a matter of confidence, which gave the Government a victory of 94 to 85 votes, with 28 abstentions.

According to the "Nation Belge" the Government adopted the wrong tactics in handling the matter, which had embittered Belgian politics for many years. It is stated that the Government sought to attain its object by exploiting party antagonisms with the result that the desired appeasement has not been achieved.

NORTH POLE STAMPS

Moscow, June 3. A special series of North Pole postage stamps are to be issued shortly in connection with the annexation of the Pole by Soviet Russia. It is announced here at the Central Post Office.

A general weather forecast for the whole of Russia states that inclement to foggy weather prevails in the northernmost part of Russia, namely the North Pole.

TREATMENT OF FRACTURES

Net-Work Of Services

London, June 3. Recommendations for improving the facilities for the treatment of fracture cases are contained in the interim report of the committee appointed over a year ago to inquire into the arrangements at present existing for restoring the working capacity of persons injured in accidents, and the report upon any improvements that might be expedient.

The Committee dealt first with fractures and the report records that the number of fracture cases treated annually in hospital of England, Wales and Scotland is well over 200,000.

In 59 out of 825 hospitals, from which the Committee received their information, there are special fracture departments under single control, ensuring the continuity of treatment until the patient is restored to work and the committee emphasises the importance of this unified-control and of constant supervision and direction of all cases by a visiting surgeon, specially appointed. The Committee conclude that the provision of a network of fracture services, covering the whole country, will call for careful planning. The co-operation of the local authorities, hospitals, medical profession and of employers and workers organisations will be necessary and in some areas it is already being secured.

GERMAN HONOUR FOR CHINESE

Colonel Feng Tie, Military Attache to the Chinese Embassy here, has been awarded the Olympia Medal, Second Class, by the Chancellor, Herr Adolf Hitler. Also awarded with the Olympia Medal Second Class were Captain Media Colima, Japanese Military Attache and Captain G. Sas of the Dutch Legation.

SEQUEL TO CORONATION CELEBRATIONS

There was an echo in the House of Commons to-day of Coronation Day, and the time when crowds of unprecedented dimensions thronged London streets till late at night, and on the following night on which the West End was given over to jubilation and millions filled the vehicle-empty streets to see the illuminations and decorations. Sir Samuel Hoare, new Home Secretary, told the House that the number of persons charged with drunkenness of all kinds in the whole metropolitan area during Coronation Week was only 492.

ROYAL NAVY

ENGINEERS FROM THE UNIVERSITIES

Further details are notified in Fleet Orders of the new scheme for the direct entry of engineer officers into the Navy from the universities which was announced in the House of Commons by Sir Samuel Hoare on May 5. Twenty commissions are being offered under this scheme in September, and applications must reach the university authorities by June 10.

On selection, successful candidates will receive commissions as sub-lieutenants (E) and be appointed to a naval depot for a two months' course in naval discipline, routine, etc. They will then receive appointments to capital ships and cruisers of the Home and Mediterranean Fleets for nine months, during which they will be required to obtain a watch-keeping certificate. A technical proficiency examination, partly written and partly "viva voce" will then be held, on the results of which they will be promoted to lieutenant (E). Antedates of seniority may be awarded by the Admiralty up to a maximum of six months on the result of this examination. The seniority of officers who do not obtain antedates will be 11 months from date of entry.

Officers in possession of university honours degrees or the equivalent and who pass the examination for lieutenant (E) with credit may, at Admiralty discretion, be selected to undergo an advanced course of two years in marine engineering at the R.N. College, Greenwich. The result of the examination at the end of this course will carry a maximum further antedate of six months' seniority as lieutenant (E). The antedates of seniority permissible are designed to enable university entrants, so far as possible, eventually to take their places in the Navy at an age and seniority corresponding to that of other officers of approximately equal merit entered from other sources. After promotion to lieutenant (E) officers will be subject to the same regulations as those relating to officers of the engineering branch, ex-cadet entry.

The places at which she will call include Nukualofa, Apia, Suva, and Lautoka. The Achilles took the place of the Dunedin as flagship on January 5 last.

FLOWER DAY

The Committee of the Confucian Society will appeal to the generosity of the public this morning when flowers will be sold in the streets.

This Society has been in existence for 28 years, and used to maintain free schools which gave free education to the poor Chinese children of Hong Kong. Owing to financial reasons the number of these schools has been reduced.

The schools are not endowed and depend on public subscription, and of late this has dwindled. It is hoped that the public will respond generously to the appeal made by flower-sellers this morning.

Girls from 16 self-supported Chinese schools are giving their services in aid of this charity.

Strikers Adopt Severe Measures

Loyal Workers Faced With Starvation

Youngstown, June 3.

Starvation threatens the employees of the Republic Steel Corporation who still remain at their posts in two of the company's factories near here, the Warren and Niles plants. Both are in Ohio. Unless they decide to surrender and join the strike, the surrounding picket force will starve them into submission.

The picket line are impassable, the only method of delivering food to the loyal workers has been by means of aeroplanes. But to-day low-lying clouds and rain prevented aeroplane deliveries.

Moreover snipers' bullets, which have already caused one plane to crash, are making the company disinclined to continue this method of delivery.

The food supply at the Warren factory is sufficient for three or four days, but at Niles supplies are reported to be running low.

PLANT CLOSES DOWN

New York, June 3.

A Dow Jones report to-day states that 5,000 employees of the Good-year Tyre Company were idle to-day when strikers closed down one plant and part of another of the company's three divisions at Akron, Ohio.

However, within a few hours the situation was normal again, full-time production being resumed.

It was a comparatively minor dispute which caused the workers, in the morning, to sit down and refuse to carry on. It is believed work was recommenced at the request of union leaders, pending negotiations over the difficulties in the factory.

An Excellent Show

So successful was the photographic exhibition of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. and Penguin Photo Clubs of Shanghai last month, that a further display has been arranged at 144, Des Voeux Road.

It was opened yesterday and will continue into next week. This time there are many coloured photos on view, and the artist Mr. Fisse Young may be seen on the verandah outside in process of tinting them. He uses both oil and water colours, but the latter is the most effective.

A powerful head of a lion (tinted in water-colours) was so effective it was hard to believe it was a photograph. A crouching tiger too was most life-like.

BOWL OF RICE

Perhaps the cleverest was a symbolical picture of a bowl of rice, with the shadows of eager clutching hands all round it. A clever picnic study caught the eye, of a pretty girl, seen through the spokes of a bicycle wheel.

On the verandah are some lovely photos by Shanghai amateurs. The White Peacock by Wu Ziang Mang will be admired, and a study of floating water lilies by Chu Chung Lin, and a lovely moonlight study by Fisse Young.

Local amateurs should try to see this exhibition, as there is much to be learned on the artistic side, and in the technique of pictorial arrangement.

AMERICAN JEW BEHEADED

Alleged Plot Against Chancellor Hitler

Berlin, June 4.

An American Jew by the name of Hirsch was beheaded to-day after he was sentenced to death by the High Court for treason against the State.

It was rumoured that he was connected with a plot against Chancellor Hitler. Two bombs were found in his possession.

The American Consul made unsuccessful reports on Hirsch's behalf.

Air Battle Thrills 5000 Scots

Five thousand people at Prestwick, Ayrshire, were thrilled by diving, bombing, and front-gun attack on tanks, which were a spectacular feature of an air display arranged by Squadron Leader D. F. McIntyre, of Everest, flight fame, who is the officer commanding the Civil Training School at Prestwick, writes a Home correspondent.

About 40 machines took part from R.A.F. squadrons—one each from Catterick and Turnhouse and two from Abbotsinch—co-operating with the local airman.

The diving-bombing was carried out by three Hawker Hinds from Abbotsinch, and diving-bombing and front-gun attack on tanks by three Hawker Demons, of No. 41 Fighter Squadron, R.A.F. Catterick.

Combined aerobatics, squadron formation air drill, and streamer cutting in flight were other spectacular features.

200-m.p.h. Plane

Much interest was taken in a demonstration flight by an Anson machine from Abbotsinch. This is one of the biggest general reconnaissance aircraft in the Air Force. It carries a crew of five and flies about 200 miles an hour.

The Marquis of Clydesdale, leader of the Everest Expedition, was present during the afternoon. The display, it is thought, will give a stimulus to recruiting.

About 100 men are still required at Prestwick to train at week-ends on summer evenings for the R.A.F. Volunteer Reserve.

L.P.T.B. has the hurried, bumpy cadence that we should expect. But what of our latest attack of initialitis? What of N.D.C.? This, it is generally admitted, has little to recommend it beyond the fact that you can make it stand for Neville Doesn't Care.

SNITE ODYSSEY

Snite, the patient has so far involved his father in expenditure between 125 to 150 thousand gold dollars.

Mr. Snite, an Irish-born American, is President of the Chicago Loan Company and owner of several department stores.

Miss Caroline Anspacher of the San Francisco Chronicle will be aboard the President Coolidge to cover the trip for the Associated Press.—Reuter.

MORE "IRON LUNGS"

Shanghai, June 4.

When the President Coolidge arrives to-morrow evening she will bring two more "iron lungs" one of which is for Mr. Snite's trans-Pacific trip and the other as a reserve. The respirator, Mr. Snite is now using will be given to the Peking Union Medical College.

Mr. Snite, Sr., received a telegram stating that arrangements for a special train to carry the patient and party from San Francisco to Chicago have been completed. The train will go to the dock at San Francisco so that the patient may be transferred with the least trouble.

Mr. Snite, Jr., will enter Billing Hospital, Chicago, where some of the foremost authorities on paralytic diseases will study his case.—Reuter.

tions which are lucidly set forth and logically sequenced. Emily Hahn's review of Geoffrey Gorer's book on Ball is a delicious pot-pourri of gentle humour and rough common sense. It is indicated that she might be devastating if she felt that way about any book she reviewed.

Editorials are always constructively critical and the first one in this issue concerning the destratability of all leaders pulling together for the well-being of China is most timely, and, coming from whence it does, most significant.

If you want to learn much in a comparatively small space (nine pages), read Mr. Lowe Chuan-hua's fine article on "The Reconstruction Movement in China," and for instruction plus amusement Mr. Yao Hsin-ling's article "When Sing-Song Girls Were Muses" is to be enthusiastically recommended. The six plates which amplify this article are as picturesque and graceful as its theme and language.

Stark realism, as a vehicle to convey psychology to the pinnacle of conviction, is the difficult medium deftly employed by Hsiao Hung in his brilliant short story entitled "Hands," translated by Richard L. Jen. "A Memoir of A Ten-Days' Massacre in Yangchow" is an achievement in restraint and subtlety by Wang Hsiu-chu. The translation by Lucien Mac is in the grand manner compatible with the depth of the theme.

This publication with personality is very well worth the Dollar it costs, because apart from those splendid articles to which reference has been made, there is a veritable cascade of satire from the pen of Osbert Sitwell when he says his views, in an article which is the soul of wit, on "What It Feels Like To Be An Author."

London Saps Scotland's Vitality

London is sapping the vitality of Scotland... It is swelling like a balloon... It is getting the lion's share of the new factories... It is certain to go on growing until it bursts!

One of Scotland's leading economists—Dr. James Bowie, Principal of the School of Economics, Dundee—voiced that "biting criticism" about London in a talk to Glasgow Publicity Club, when he charged the Government with showing a short-sighted policy in allowing so much industry to concentrate around one centre, states the "Bulletin" (Glasgow).

"The impoverishment of Scotland and the prosperity of London and the South-East are largely the result of Government policy," said Mr. Bowie. "That being so, Scotland has a claim for damages, for practically every other region has benefited from State intervention."

BALANCE UPSET

"It is the Government itself that has upset the balance of location by showering blessings on some industries and areas in the shape of quotas, tariffs, and subsidies, while condemning others to severe and prolonged depression," he said.

"We need deliberate action to redress the balance—a real programme of redemption for Scotland."

Though he admitted conditions in Scotland to-day were undoubtedly better, Dr. Bowie said that they still had 18 per cent. of their insured workers unemployed, and there was plenty of room yet for improvement.

KING'S ESTATES

Prosperity Reported

Round a long table in a Buckingham gate, S.W., office one afternoon last month, sat King George VI and half-a-dozen officers of his Duchy of Cornwall.

One by one they made their reports, discussed business problems.

For this meeting His Majesty had motored specially from Windsor Castle to hear the news that his estates were prospering from the Earl of Radnor (Lord Warden of the Stannaries), Sir Edward Peacock (Receiver-General), Earl Fortescue, Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey, Sir Walter Monckton (Attorney-General) and the Duchy's Secretary and Record Keeper, R. Clive W. Burn.

When early Dukes of Cornwall ran short of funds it was no uncommon thing for them to pledge the Duchy's mineral rights, and under the control of money-lenders and opulent industrialists fell several of its richest tin mines. Much surface land is still on lease, but the rights to mines and minerals are the King's.

Because he had an idea that his possessions should be handled on modern business-like lines, the Duke of Windsor, planned big changes, believed the estates could be developed more extensively, made to yield a bigger annual income.

Of the Duchy's industries one of the most valuable is the Helford Oystery, until 1922 administered by the Duke's officials. That year the then Prince of Wales leased it to Macfarlanes, which now undertakes to supply the Duchy free of charge with 200 of the best oysters each week during the season. Every Thursday they are delivered.

To King George VI belong all Royal fish caught off the Duchy coast, but because they are mostly porpoise, whales, and others of little market value, have to be buried.

At last week's conference, Auditor Sir Lionel Halsey produced a satisfactory set of accounts, reported that this year's revenues should yield at least £104,000.

MALAYAN REVIEW

Rubber Control

Evidence of the strong support given by all sections of the rubber industry to the control scheme was forthcoming at a meeting of Chinese members of the Johore Planters' Association held at the Singapore Chinese Chamber of Commerce, states the "Malaya Tribune." A resolution was passed unanimously calling for the continuation of restriction when the present scheme expires at the end of 1938.

Although the present scheme has more than eighteen months to run, it is none too early for members of the industry to make known their determination that control shall continue. There are agencies working actively for its abandonment, and we may expect that this propaganda will be intensified as time goes on. Activity on the Malayan side is needed if the industry is to be preserved, and there is to be no relapse into the chaotic conditions of the pre-restriction era.

As the Hon. Mr. Cheok Huan Cheong, the chairman, said at the meeting referred to: "Think what the disastrous effect would be if the output is not regulated. We should again see rubber sold at under $10 a picul. It is necessary at least to preserve the machinery which has been so painstakingly built up, so that in time of need we can use it again."

Back To The Land

By the gift of a further $2,000,000 to the Silver Jubilee Fund for the relief of distress in Singapore, the Straits Settlements Government has raised the money available to nearly $3,500,000. This will provide an income of about $6,500 a month, and will be no more than is necessary to provide a bare minimum of relief. There are about 2,000 people, representing nearly 550 families, receiving assistance, and it is stated that there are 6,000 to 8,000 who are receiving no allowance at all. Even if nothing more is done than to provide the means for necessitous people to exist, all the money in hand and any more which may be subscribed is needed for this one purpose. The suggestion has been made that in order to place relief measures on a permanent basis something should be done to put needy people to work on the land so that they may be usefully employed and be able to contribute to some extent to their own support. Relief schemes the world over visualise something of the kind. It is pitiable to contemplate the spectacle of needy people living in idleness with only enough to keep body and soul together and nothing to do but brood over their misfortunes. Grim stories have been told in Britain of the men on the dole, in particular the youths who have grown up to an inheritance of dole conditions and have never known what it is to be employed. Such tragedies are to be avoided wherever possible, and the problem of providing useful work for the unemployed of Singapore has been given anxious consideration.

Ninepence Or Tenpence

"As long as I am here the Malayan Government will do everything in its power to assist the International Rubber Restriction Committee to maintain the price at a reasonable level, which I conceive to be about 9d. or 10d.—a lb."

"I would not be an alarmist but I believe it to be a fact that thousands of tons of synthetic rubber are being made to-day."

These important statements were made by Sir Shenton Thomas, High Commissioner, in opening the new premises of the Rubber Research Institute in Kuala Lumpur. The old premises were partly destroyed by fire some months ago.

Mr. H. J. Page, the Director of the Institute, briefly sketched the history of the Institute. He referred to the loss sustained by the Institute in the recent fire at the old premises at Damansara Road.

His Excellency in the course of his speech, said:— "I deplore, as anyone really interested in the industry must deplore, speculative booms such as we have just witnessed. They retard research, they check the expansion of markets, and they are a direct incentive to competition."

Botany In Malaya

The report of Mr. R. E. Holtum, the Director of Gardens, S. S., for the year 1936 indicates the valuable work in the interests of the flora of Malaya which the Department accomplishes. It is recorded that in both Singapore and Penang the Municipal Commissioners pay a hundred dollars a month to the department for advice regarding the planting and maintenance of roadside trees. Officers carry out expeditions to various places with the result that considerable new knowledge is obtained. The Director visited Cameron Highlands collecting specimens. A second course in Systematic Botany was held on Saturday mornings at the Botanic Gardens, Singapore, and these classes, it is hoped, have made a real start in the teaching of botany in Malaya. A book by Mr. E. J. H. Corner, the Assistant Director, on the common trees of the country should do much to assist this study.

Naturalisation $100

A perusal of the Fees Ordinance of the Straits Settlements discloses some interesting figures relating to the cost of naturalisation in Malaya for which fees, amounting to $100, must have been paid by the time naturalisation is granted.

For every petition for naturalisation lodged it is necessary for the applicant to pay $10. Among those exempted from the payment of such charges, however, are women who were British subjects before their marriage to an alien, if their marriage has been dissolved, or if their husbands have died. However, a payment of $2 is required by such women for grant of a certificate of naturalisation. No charge will be made, either for an application for a certificate of naturalisation, or the granting of such certificate, however, where the applicant is one to whom a certificate of local naturalisation has been granted under the Naturalisation Ordinance. The sum of $90 is payable in all other cases upon the granting of the petition. The sum of $5 is demanded for the registration of a declaration of alienage or of retention acquisition or resumption of British nationality.

Gift To Raffles Museum

One of the most valuable and interesting gifts to Raffles Museum has been made by Dato Roland Braddell. It comprises 15 beautiful colour prints of Singapore, Malacca, and Penang, showing the Crown Colony in its very early days, 1844 to 1847. The former date is of especial interest as it depicts the town of Singapore as Dato Braddell's grandfather knew it when he arrived. The pictures are by two French artists, M. Lauvergne and M. Flaque, and as works of art, they are exquisite. They have hitherto been unknown and unpublished, and are in extremely pleasing colours and very well drawn. The main interest of the pictures, apart from their artistic excellence, is that they give a clear insight into the appearance of the early Settlements and the social life of its inhabitants, and they throw light on hitherto unknown details of local history. The gems of the collection are a picture of Singapore and two of Malacca.

Cost Of Travelling

That the globe-trotter's lot is not a happy one is shown by an examination of the charges for passports, renewals of passports, visas, certificates of identity and identity and travelling documents.

A British passport will cost the traveller $8; its renewal $2; and its endorsement $1. A British Emergency certificate is $3. If you desire to go to Palestine it will be necessary to obtain a Palestinian passport. This will cost you $8, and $2 per year for renewal, with another $1 for its endorsement. A certificate of identity is $3; a Nansen Certificate of identity $5; an identity and travelling document $4, and, if endorsed for authorisation to return to the Straits Settlements, $4.25.

SPANISH COAST CONTROL

FULL INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION

Effort For Restoration Of Scheme

London, June 4. The Non-Intervention Committee have made proposals which hope to provide adequate guarantees against recurrence of incidents in Spain which caused Germany and Italy to withdraw from the scheme.

Mr. Anthony Eden announcing this in the House of Commons to-day said that the Government considered the essential aim should be full international co-operation and complete restoration of the scheme of naval observation of the Spanish coast with the least possible delay.

The Government attached all the more importance to their proposals since they are anxious to make the quickest possible progress with the withdrawal of foreign combatants. They regarded this matter as urgent.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

CATALONIA UNREST CONTINUES

Survivors of the disaster have been evacuated from the town. A Moller vessel is proceeding at full speed to Rabaul for salvage work. It is believed that the cable and wireless stations at Rabaul must have been destroyed.—Reuter.

About 250 others will take part in a fly past, the King who will attend the display in mass formation in five parallel columns with fighters on the flanks.

Marshalling and timing of this fly past, which represents the biggest mass formation evolution ever seen in this country, will provide staff exercise of great value as the squadrons taking part will be drawn from widely scattered stations and converge on the rendezvous area before taking up their positions.—British Wireless.

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF WINDSOR ON THEIR HONEYMOON

Chateau Decade, June 3. The Duke and Duchess of Windsor left by motor car on the first stage of their honeymoon at three minutes past six this evening. It is understood they will board the train for Austria at the junction of La Roche Migennes (Yonne Department) at midnight.

The Duchess wore a going-away dress of a dark blue coat and skirt with a printed blue and white flowered blouse.

As the car left the Chateau, waiting crowds saw the Duke looking forward and waving happily. For about three miles along the road from Mont to Tours, mobile guards were stationed on each side at a distance of about 15 yards apart. Police cars and two despatch riders followed.

Many of the villagers emerged from their homes to wave God-speed to the Duke and Duchess.—Reuter.

WIDESPREAD FELICITATIONS

London, June 3. The Duke of Windsor's wedding has evoked warm and widespread good wishes in many quarters, says the "Evening Standard" in an editorial to-day.

The leader continues to point out that a series of humiliations have been inflicted upon the Duke during recent weeks. One was the ruling whereby his family and friends were prevented from attending the wedding; another was the little ill-will towards the Duke of Windsor in the nation as a whole and these actions, if the purpose was to alienate public sympathy from him, have defeated that purpose.

We believe, continued the editorial, that our people will prefer to think with charity of his marriage, and remember with gratitude his immense past services to his country.

The "News-Chronicle" says there must travel across the Channel from all men and women of good-will, heartfelt good wishes for a long and happy married life to this man upon whom "the matchless blessing" of marriage, hitherto denied him, is now to be bestowed. May he find his decision endorsed by the years, it adds.—Reuter.

"HE DESERVES WELL"

London, June 4. Controversy raged around the Duke of Windsor's marriage to the very last, exclaims the "Daily Telegraph" to-day.

With the marriage, this controversy should now end, since they enter a happy and useful

FARM PRODUCE IN BRITAIN

Government Plans For Expansion

London, June 4. Referring in a speech before the Council of Agriculture for England to the Government's £3,500,000 plans for increasing farm production which were laid before the Commons on May 27, the Minister of Agriculture said that the department was working hard at the problems of milk and bacon and other problems and he hoped that before Parliament rose he would have some proposals to announce in regard to the commodities themselves.

The proposals made last week were intended to place a solid foundation under subsequent commodity proposals. They were intended to restore and improve the fertility of the soil and the health and wellbeing of the stock relying upon it. Those two proposals, though difficult of attainment, were profoundly important for the whole future of agriculture.

Referring to animal diseases, Mr. Morrison said that £14,000,000 annually was perhaps a conservative estimate of the loss due to this cause. If it could be cut down by half a boon would be transferred on agriculture. The attack on this problem would be made on a wide front.—British Wireless.

RECORD SHIPPING AT SOUTHAMPTON

London, June 4. The quantity of shipping entering Southampton Docks during May was 2,307,166 gross tons and constituted a record. This total exceeded the May 1936 figure by 38 per cent, and was 177,414 tons higher than the previous record of August 1935.—British Wireless.

HUGE OFFER OF GOLD

Frantic Rush To Dishoard

London, June 4. A frantic rush to dishoard gold over the week-end led to the staggering amount of 1,493 bars valued at £4,200,000 being offered on the market to-day. The authorities are buying all except 250 bars which will be taken for arbitrage to New York.

The extent of the nervousness is shown by the fact that there was one seller at fixing who made a tentative enquiry to sell 1,500 bars, but he withdrew the offer not because the market was unable to absorb it but because of the difficulties connected with the delivery of this huge amount on one day being virtually insuperable.

The price was 7½d. under American parity, but even so hoarders rushed to sell and switch the funds into dollars and sterling owing to fears of some currency statement during the week-end.

Since fixing a better tone prevails with small buyers at the rate and the fact that Control has been willing to purchase on this huge scale is helping to allay fears of the possibility of a lower price in gold.—Reuter.

U.S. SUPREME COURT BILL

Compromise Possible

Washington, June 4. The possibility of a compromise in the bill for the reorganization of the Supreme Court was indicated after a conference at White House by Senator Robinson, leader of the Democratic majority in the Senate.

Senator Robinson said that the bill will be passed forward for action by Congress in the present session, but some amendments will be submitted.—Reuter.

U.S. BASEBALL RESULTS

Pittsburgh Loses Ground

New York, June 5. Pittsburgh lost some of its lead in the National League to-day when Boston held the Pirates scoreless. Fette pitched for the Bruins, allowing seven hits, but keeping them well scattered. Berger homered for the Bruins on two occasions, and Boston's nine hits netted six runs.

The St. Louis-Brooklyn, Chicago-New York, and Cincinnati-Philadelphia games were cancelled, owing to rain.

In the American League the leading New York Yankees were trimmed by Cleveland, six to two, though each had eleven hits.

Chicago, playing at Boston, won handily, scoring eleven runs on ten hits, Piet and Bonura hitting homers. Boston scored four on six hits. Higgins contributing a circuit drive.

Washington beat Detroit, five to four, with nine hits to ten. The score was surprising in that Greenberg hit a home run for the Tigers, but on empty bases.

The Philadelphia-St. Louis game was called on account of rain.—Reuter.

BRADDOCK FINED

Failure To Weigh-In For Fight

New York, June 5. For failing to appear to weigh-in for to-night's scheduled fight against Max Schmeling, German heavyweight and ex-world's champion, Jim Braddock was fined $1,000 and suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Braddock's world title was not taken from him, however.

The Commission also stated it would suspend any boxer who fights Braddock before the champion fulfils his engagement with Schmeling at Madison Square Gardens. This threat is obviously aimed at Joe Louis, the Detroit negro whom Schmeling whipped, but who is slated to fight Braddock at Chicago on June 2.

Braddock's manager thought Louis would make a better drawing-card than Schmeling, declaring that anti-German feeling, especially in New York, would have made a fight with Schmeling a financial failure.—Reuter.

"DIZZY" DEAN STILL OUT

New York, June 5. "Dizzy" Dean, New York Giants' ace pitcher, remains indefinitely suspended from further League play for his refusal to sign any statement refuting his alleged remarks concerning the integrity of National League officials and umpires.

COIN WORTH TWO COWS

Rarity With Studs For Calculation

A coin, believed to be the heaviest coin in the world, has been bought by the Africana Museum in Johannesburg. It is Mutshuku, a copper ingot weighing about 10lb. and surmounted by 36 studs, which denote its value.

At the time when it was in circulation each stud represented the value of one iron hoe. Two hoes were worth one goat, and 10 goats equalled one cow, so that the example now displayed by the museum is worth almost two cows. The value of one hoe was subsequently standardised at 5s, making the coin worth £9.

These heavy tokens, of which the manufacture ceased in 1860, represent the first output of the Messina copper mines. They were cast there in primitive moulds by the Ba-lemba tribe, and subsequently by the Sesuto.

ITALY LEADS IN SUBMARINES

TWICE NUMBER OF BRITAIN

It is officially announced from Rome that 20 new submarines are to be laid down this year, raising the number of undersea boats in the Italian Navy to 108. This will be the largest submarine fleet in the world, and all except eight boats are of modern design.

Excluding vessels built under were war programmes, which are therefore obsolete, the strength of the leading naval powers in modern submarines, built and building, is:

Italy	100
France	85
Japan	64
Great Britain	54
U.S.A.	51

Some idea of the intensive naval preparations being made by Italy is conveyed by the fact that in the period 1935-37 she has laid down or ordered 44 submarines, besides nearly 50 destroyers and torpedo-boats.

It is officially confirmed in Rome that the Italian Mediterranean islands, including Pantelleria—midway in the narrows between Sicily and Africa—are being developed as naval and air bases.

FLOOD PREVENTION MEASURES

Washington, June 2.

The establishment of seven regional authorities to undertake a comprehensive programme for flood drought and dust storm prevention and soil conservation has been recommended by President Roosevelt in a message to Congress.

The regional authorities will also administer hydro-electric projects undertaken as part of the Multiple Purpose Watershed Developments.

The President issued a warning that the water power resources of the nation must be protected from private monopoly and used for the benefit of the people.

themselves to the contemplative life is anything but idle, but that by their prayers they are bringing the blessing of God on the human race. For this reason the Catholic Church greatly favours the "Enclosed Orders," that is those who shut themselves away from the world as the Carmelites do. It should be remembered that these Sisters are not shut in, but shut themselves into the convent, or, more correctly, they go into the convent and shut out the rest of the world from them. The ceremony of inserting a barrier between the life of the Sisters and that of the outside world will take place in Stanley to-morrow. To-day, all who are interested are welcome to inspect the convent.

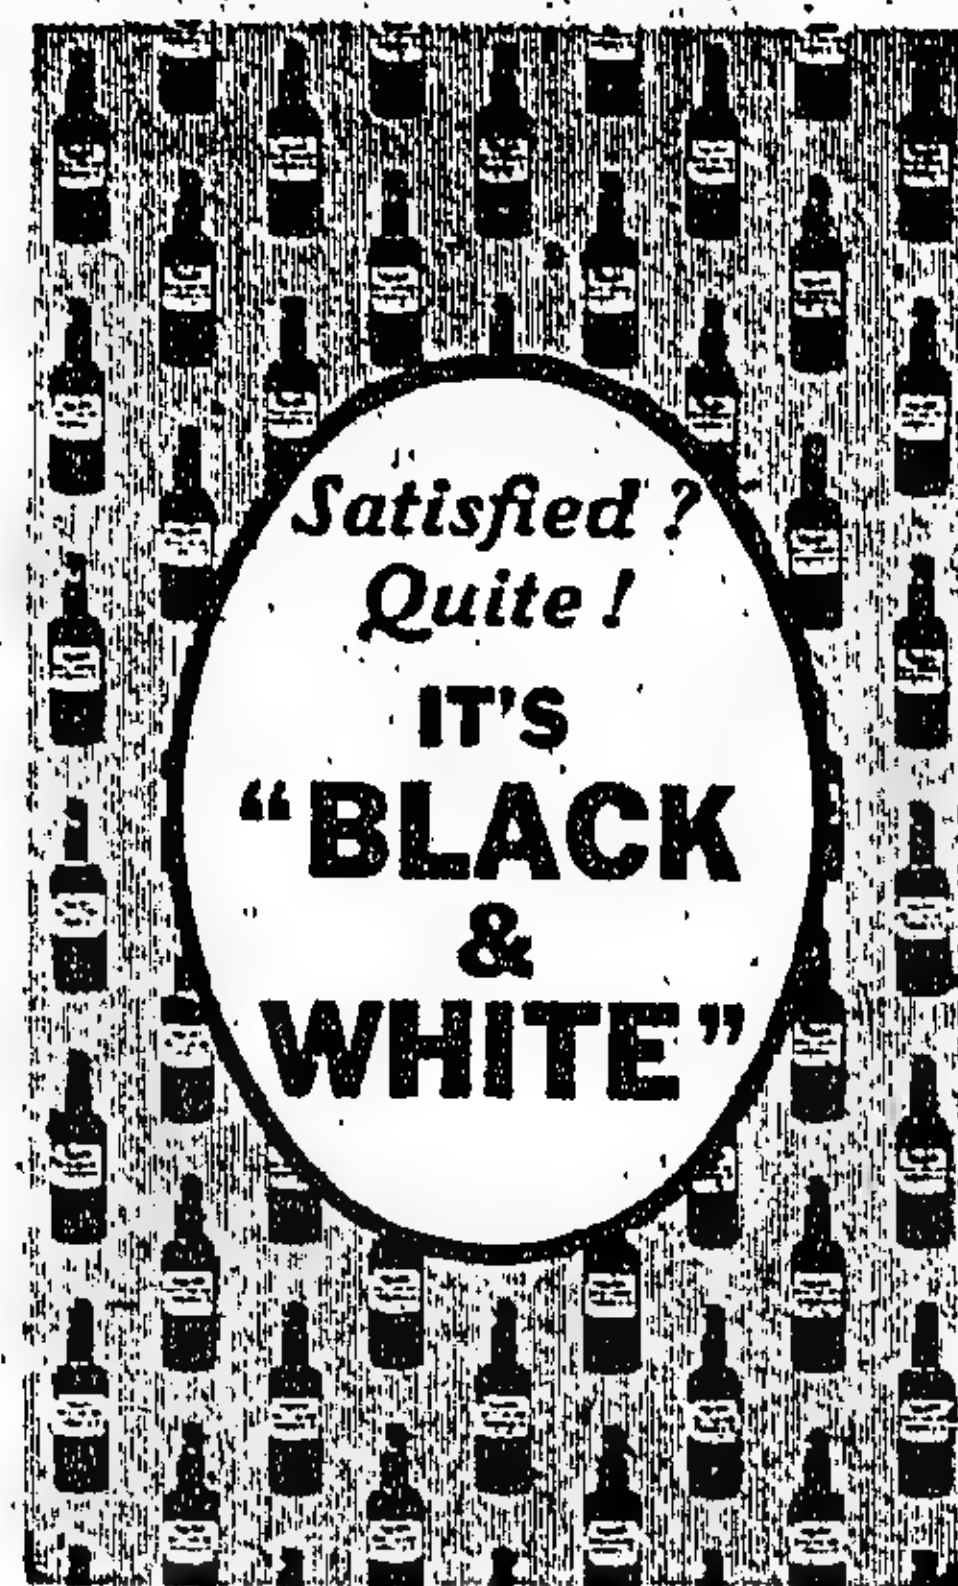

A FAMOUS ENGLISH CARMELITE

There are men as well as women in the Carmelite Order, which is one of the oldest of the Religious Orders, and one of the most famous of its members was an Englishman, St. Simon Stock, who was its General in the thirteenth century. He was a man of very wide experience and great human sympathy, and he did a great deal to bridge that gulf that sometimes seems to exist between the English character and the monastic life. He established Carmelite communities of men in several University cities, such as Oxford and Cambridge in England, and Paris and Bologna on the Continent, and he lived for some time at Cambridge. The spread of the Order under his direction both in England and in Southern Europe was very notable. As often happens, he is best remembered in countries other than his own, and he is honoured particularly at Bordeaux where he died and was buried. He was a native of Kent.

Head Wrightson by the Compagnie Financiere et Industrielle d'Ougree for the supply of a Green-walt slanting plant. The value of this contract is said to be about $25,000.

United Steel Companies are laying down a new plant for the manufacture of steel sheet.

A repeat order for two high-pressure boilers with auxiliary plant valued at $60,000 has been placed with Clarke Chapman and Co. by Slough Estates.

There are also a number of orders being placed for new shipping for the South African trade. Harland and Wolff have just received an important contract from Shaw Savill. The boat is to be specially constructed so as to provide space for 1000 tons of chilled beef, as this traffic is increasing rapidly.

It is understood that Thornycrofts have a large South African bus contract on hand.

These are only a few of the recent orders given out, but they fully illustrate the continued activity that prevails in the iron, steel and engineering industries.

BODY FOUND ON PATH

Police Investigating The Case

The body of a Chinese male, known to be a fisherman, between the age of 30 and 35 and dressed in a black cotton singlet with blue short pants, was found by troops yesterday at a forestry path leading from the military path at Pak Shui Wan to Lyceum Barracks. The body which had not been lifeless for a long time, bore wounds on the head, throat, chest and abdomen which were apparently caused by a chopper. It is believed by the police that it is a case of murder and Detective-Sergeant Rowlesky is investigating the case. Up to a late hour last night no further developments were reported.

If you, for some reason, cannot play Follow my leader, you can at least play forfeits and send a contribution to the acting Treasurer of the Boys' Club Association, Mr. Kwok Chan, at the Bank L'Indo-China, or to myself at the Bishop's House?

For eighteen months now the Boys' Club Association has been carrying forward the work begun by the Children's Playground Association. We have two Clubs with 60 boys in each—one is at the gates of the University; the other near the Chinese Y.M.C.A. below Caine Road.

The Gala Performance to-morrow, for which our grateful thanks are due to the Management of the King's Theatre, is to enable us to pay what we still owe for rent of our club premises, about $500, and to go forward. We want this summer to establish a Club in Wand-chai and one, if not more, in Kowloon.

We have found the Clubs in some ways more self-running than we expected. Chinese boys seem more clubbable than the English boys I have known in clubs in England.

MORE HELP WANTED

We want more men and women with experience of clubs to help us. We want to know of organisations who will be willing to sponsor a club.

We find we can run a club for $50 a month, including rent, water, light, and the honorarium of the Warden. A bilingual warden is the pivot of each club, so that no English man or woman need fear the language difficulty. If you can box, or play ping pong, or tell us how an aeroplane works, or how an electric bulb is made, or if you just want to bring an evening's interest in your own person to a shabby street, you will have a great welcome and a great use.

We have found preliminary employment for nearly 100 of our 120 boys, and been able to put many who were drifting into disease and physical debility on to the road of bodily and mental health.

But there are many, many more, and there are girls as well as boys. Our work is but begun. We want all the help any one can offer, if we are to give the children of our shabby streets a chance to start straight in life. Mr. James Middleton Smith, of Messrs. Ellis and Edgar, has done most of the work so far. He badly needs more helpers.

The film on Sunday night is aptly called "Pennies from Heaven." Remember, though, to change your pennies for dollars, and if you cannot come to the performance, send those dollars to Mr. Kwok Chan at the Bank L'Indo-China.

And if you think heaven is something far removed from you and your life, here is a better definition of it. "Heaven is where the love of God holds unquestioned sway." So heaven can be in your heart.

VISITORS TO KULING

Shanghai, June 4.

FERRY WHARF COMPLAINTS

for the use of the crew. Regarding the ferry which was alleged not to have run at 5 p.m. on that day, it was stated that this was because the incoming vessel broke two piston rings and on its arrival at the wharf it was taken off the run and another one put in its place. The schedule of the ferry services are every twenty minutes and if a person misses the first boat it is only natural that he would have to wait another twenty minutes for the next one that leaves. From the first of next month there will be a new schedule made for the sailings of the Kowloon City ferries, which will make it easier for the passengers.

THREE STOREYS

The new Central Market, plans for which are still in preparation at the Architectural Office of the Public Works Department, will embrace all modern conveniences and when completed will meet a long-felt need in the Colony.

The building will be of three storeys, it is understood, and on the third floor there will be Sanitary Department offices and quarters.

The usual retail fish stalls will be on the ground floor of the new Central Market.

It is also learned that the new building will be slightly narrower than the present one thus allowing for the widening of Queen Victoria Street, on the east side of the market, and Jubilee Street, on the west.

Between the demolition period and the erection of the new building, the poultry, beef, pork and fish stalls in the present Central Market will operate in the south block of the Western Market. It was learned. The vegetable and fruit stalls will occupy the ground floor of shops in Queen's Road Central opposite the Central Market.

The wholesale fish and vegetable will go to the new market at Kennedy Town.

OPENING DESCRIBED

Regarding the present Central Market, which was opened in 1895, the "Hong Kong Daily Press" of that year has the following interesting item:

"The new Central Market was opened on the 1st May. During the day a large staff of bare-backed coolies were busily engaged in removing the fittings from the old dirt begrimed sheds which have for the last few years answered for the Hong Kong Market. Judging by the unusual avidity with which they went about their work it was evident that the healthful change was heartily welcomed. The market is in every respect adapted for the important purposes for which it was erected. It is commodious, freely ventilated, strongly built, and there is every accommodation for the stall holders and visitors. The floor is of concrete, and the aisles wide. A walk through the place when business was brisk did not disclose any obnoxious smells, and it was certainly cooler inside the building than it was in the street. It is to be hoped that the Chinese will see the advantage of always maintaining yesterday's standard of cleanliness."

The new building is of three storeys and comprises the following:—
Ground floor, out-patients department; waiting room; isolation ward; boiler room; storage room; servants quarters.
First floor, office; doctors consulting room; children's clinic; reception hall; children's ward; nursing room and pantry.
Second floor, children's ward; nurses' room; nine rooms with verandahs (these rooms can be used as private or public wards).
Third floor, operating theatre; two private rooms; three wards for maternity cases; three wards for midwifery; roof, laundry. There are altogether 100 beds.
To-day's date coincides exactly with the date of the first Committee meeting held in 1934.

WHAT ABOUT THE HOLIDAYS?

wishes to take in a cinema show in the evening. There is swimming and plenty of it, and if only the management of the Hotel can come to some arrangement with the Deep Water Bay golf course authorities to allow holiday-makers to use the course in the mornings, the attraction will be even greater.

AT STANLEY

There is the St. Stephen's College at Stanley and when the "summer vac" are on the place is half-emptied of the boarders. Have the school authorities, one wonders, ever thought of turning the school into a sort of summer camp during those seven weeks? It will not only bring in extra revenue for the school but it will mean that another seaside hotel will be available to the Hong Kong public during the hottest months of the year and it is felt that such a step will prove extremely popular.

CHEUNG CHOW

An ideal holiday spot, whether one wishes to spend just the week-end or even a month, is Cheung Chow. There is an up-to-date boarding house in this fishing-folks' island and the place boasts several, excellent beaches, and especially for those who want peace and quiet, there is no place like Cheung Chow.

In the New Territories, too, there are a number of places where one may find rest. These holidays within Hong Kong are just as good as those in other places and the one thing that makes the local ones so attractive is that they are so much cheaper, and what is more important still, people who spend their holidays in this manner help to keep the money inside Hong Kong. That alone should recommend the idea!

a committee to go into the question of expansion. Mr. Fung Keung, Vice-Chairman, donated $5,000 and a further donation of a similar sum was collected by Mr. Kwan Chak Man, another energetic supporter. The remainder of the Committee were responsible for $500 each.

All this splendid response followed an appeal launched by Mr. Chan, Wai Chuen.

The site adjoining the Convent was selected for the new hospital building plans for which were prepared by Mr. J. Caer Clark.

THE BUILDING

The new building is of three storeys and comprises the following:—

Ground floor, out-patients department; waiting room; isolation ward; boiler room; storage room; servants quarters.
